

sensitization program for children we feel it is imperative to teach children not only how to avoid abusive situations, but also of the need to report such abuse in a timely fashion. We will collaborate with other child welfare organizations in the community as well as parents in order to explore appropriate ways of delivering this information to children.

Our website <lindenlegalaid.org> has been neglected for some time as all our efforts have been devoted to re-establishing service to the community after the setback suffered as a results of the public protests in 2012. We are working on modernizing our website and providing full updates for our statistical reports as well as content for a new issue of our online newsletter "Legalines." We will also provide links via our website to appropriate versions of the information provided to the public during our legal sensitization radio program.
